Two Truman Reorganization Plans Are Upheld By Senate

Job-Finding And Idle Pay Functions To Go To Labor Department

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—The Senate approved two of President Truman's government reorganization plans today.

One of them, officially called Plan No. 2, gives the stripped-down Labor Department a potent transfusion by transferring to it the job-finding and unemployment compensation functions now handled by the Federal Security Agency.

The other, Plan No. 7, transfers the Public Roads Administration to the Department of Commerce. It now is in the recently organized General Services Administration headed by Jess Larson.

The votes mean that Plan No. 2 will take effect, since the House has already approved it, and Plan No. 7 is virtually certain to go into operation since there has been no move in the House to veto it.

Plan No. 1 Killed

These plans and four others are due to take effect at midnight Friday. Plan No. 1, however, which called for the creation of a new Cabinet-rank Department of Welfare, was killed yesterday by an adverse Senate vote.

President Truman submitted the seven reorganization plans in June. Under a law passed this year, such plans go into effect 60 days after submission, provided that neither house of Congress disapproves them by a majority of its full membership.

Plans No. 1, 2 and 7 met with opposition in the Senate Expenditures Committee. Separate resolutions of disapproval were forwarded to the Senate. No. 1 was disapproved last night by a vote of 60 to 32.

But the resolution expressing disapproval of Plan No. 2 received only 32 votes, with 57 against the resolution. The disapproval resolution would have had to have received 49 votes for the plan to be junked.

Tobin Is Gratified

Plan No. 7 came through 47 to 40, with opponents of the shift nine votes short of the showdown. Secretary of Labor Tobin issued a statement expressing gratification at the Senate's action on Plan No. 2. He called it "an important step in the rebuilding of the Department of Labor," and said steps soon would be taken to recapture other functions.

Sen. Ives (R-N.Y.) led the unsuccessful fight against the transfer. He said the Labor Department was not prepared at present to administer the unemployment insurance service, and he complained that Mr. Truman had acted on only a few of the recommendations for strengthening the department made by the Hoover Commission.

Legion Launches State Convention

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (P)—American Legionnaires and members of the auxiliary—almost 1,800 strong—opened the Maryland Department's annual convention tonight.

It promises to be one of the stormiest gatherings in the 31-year-old history of the department.

First of all, two World War veterans are locked in a hot fight for the state commander's post.

Among the controversial resolutions to be voted on before Saturday is one which would place the Maryland Legion on record against a bonus. Two others favor cash payments to veterans.

Mayor Thomas D'Alesandro, of Baltimore, welcomed the delegates in a short speech. There were other brief addresses, and then the members adjourned for a dance and some corridor campaigning.

The candidates for commander are John Zabelean, Jr., and Kenneth Hammer, both Baltimore attorneys.

Minnesota Doctors Deny Action "Bribe To Press"

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—A charge was made today—and immediately denied—that when Minnesota's physicians decided to advertise their offered "an open bribe to the press of the state."

The Committee for the Nation's Health said that a resolution to permit newspaper advertising, adopted recently by the Minnesota Medical Association, is a part of the doctors' "fight against national health insurance and other measures of the Truman health program."

A spokesman for the Minnesota doctors promptly denied the committee's charge that the resolution amounted to a bribe offer.

"Lonely Hearts" Jury Runs Into Stumbling Block

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (P)—The jury in the "lonely hearts" murder trial deliberated the fate of Martha Beck and Raymond Fernandez for more than an hour tonight, then ran into a stumbling block.

The jury sent out word it wanted a look at the confessions allegedly made by the accused slayers during questioning in Michigan.

The prosecution quickly agreed, but Defense Attorney Herbert E. Rosenberg studied some law books and said he would not consent.

The state has asked a first degree murder verdict against the two, charging they murdered an elderly widow for her $6,000 savings. Such a verdict makes the death penalty mandatory.

Arms Program Touches Off Hot Debate In House

Thomas Asks Another Try At Disarmament

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—President Truman's $1,450,000,000 foreign arms program touched off hot debate in the House today, while Socialist Norman Thomas urged Congress to delay the measure and try first to bring about universal disarmament.

The House rang with arguments for and against the historic plan to help arm "friendly nations" abroad.

Aid Needed, Kee Says

Military aid from the United States is urgently needed because Western Europe lives in the shadow of the huge Russian army, said Chairman Kee (D-W.Va.) of the Foreign Affairs Committee, leading the fight for approval of the full program. Russia is not maintaining 200 armed divisions "for the mere purpose of parades," he declared.

"This is an insane program, a program of war," declared Rep. Marcanonio of New York, only American Laborite in the House. What has happened in the countries of Europe, he said, was purely domestic—"their revolutions were purely domestic."

By a vote of 275 to 47 approving procedure under which the debate began, the House indicated that the bill has strong support. This vote was not a true test of sentiment on the measure, however, since members often vote to allow a bill to come up and then oppose it when their amendments are rejected.

House Group OKs Program

The arms aid program received a formal blessing from a majority of the House Foreign Affairs Committee in a report made public before the debate began.

But Thomas, the perennial presidential candidate of the Socialist Party, told a Senate committee that Congress should take the lead in an effort to achieve world disarmament before any further expenditures are made in "the costly arms race."

Churchill Surprises European Assembly

STRASBOURG, France, Aug. 17 (P)—Winston Churchill urged the European Consultative Assembly today to delay consideration of the admission of the West German republic until a German delegation is ready to take its seats.

The former British Prime Minister's action was a surprise. He had been expected to move for prompt admission of the German republic.

U.S. Approves Yugoslav Bid For Steel Mill

Move Will Aid Tito In Fight With USSR

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—The United States has granted Yugoslavia permission to buy the materials for a steel mill from an American company, government officials disclosed tonight.

The decision marks the biggest step yet by the American government to strengthen Marshal Tito in his fight with Moscow.

It is the first time since the cold war began that the administration has agreed to ship "war potential" goods to a Communist-ruled nation.

Months Of Argument

The shipment was approved after months of argument between the State and National Defense Departments and other top agencies of the government.

The mill, valued at approximately $3,000,000, will be built by the Continental Foundry and Machinery Company of Pittsburgh and is to be delivered in 12 months.

These government officials said it is a blooming and slapping mill designed to process and refine steel ingots and would not increase Yugoslavia's steel capacity but only its ability to refine it.

Secretary of State Acheson, it was learned, led the fight for approval within the administration, arguing it was a "calculated risk" necessary to bolster Yugoslavia's recovery.

Johnson Drops Objection

The Yugoslav government, in appealing for the right to place an order for the mill, said it was vitally needed to turn out rails and other structural steel essential to the Yugoslav recovery program.

Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson first opposed the deal on security grounds, officials said. But later, he dropped his objections on the understanding the decision can be revised prior to shipment in the light of conditions existing then.

Acheson has agreed to this provision and the Commerce Department has now notified the Yugoslav embassy that the necessary export license for the mill will be granted.

Chinese Admit Foochow's Loss

CANTON, Thursday, Aug. 18 (P)—The Nationalist today admitted the loss of Foochow, Southeastern China port city and capital of Fukien province.

Capture of Foochow, 430 air miles northeast of Canton, by onrushing Communist armies came after the United States Consulate General announced it expects to close tomorrow and pull out of Canton. It will go to Chungking which will be the new Nationalist refugee capital.

The official Nationalist Central News Agency said the loss of Foochow was announced last night by a spokesman for Southeast China headquarters at Taipei, Formosa.

Foochow is on the main land opposite the Nationalist Formosa bastion. Earlier reports had told of strong reinforcements being thrown into the Foochow battle front.

The Nationalists also had reported strong air force support for Foochow's defenders. Naval forces also had been sent up the Min River in attempt to beat back the Communists, the Nationalists said.

The Central News announcement said Fukien's capital has been transferred to Amoy, another port 140 miles farther southwest.

Bridges' "Knowledge" Surprises Eisenhower

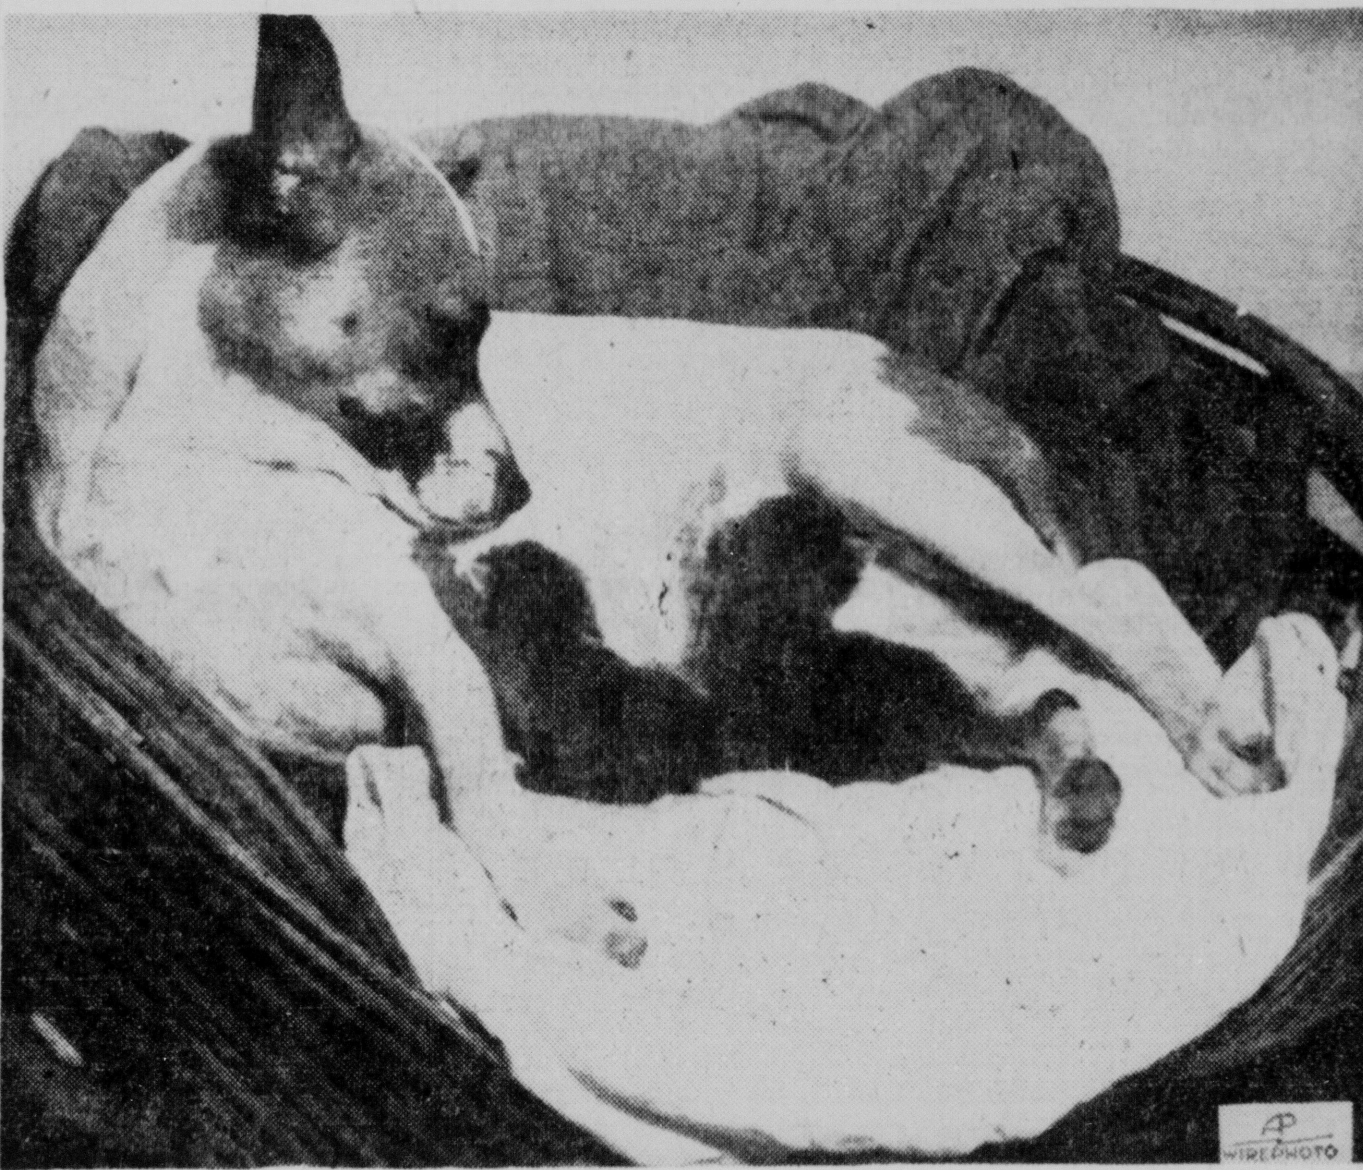

DENVER, Aug. 17 (P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower grinned today and said: "I'm surprised that Sen. Bridges knows so many things I don't know about."

The Columbia University president and wartime Allied forces commander is in Colorado on a vacation. Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) told a group of editors at Concord, N. H., Monday night he believes Eisenhower might accept the Republican nomination for the presidency in 1952.

Margaret Whiting Is Granted Divorce

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 17 (P)—Singer Margaret Whiting obtained a divorce today from Hubbel Robinson, Jr., 45, vice president of Columbia Broadcasting System, after she testified he "screamed" that he did not love her.

Miss Whiting, 24, told the judge the screaming occurred in the presence of friends shortly after they were married at Las Vegas, Nev., last December 29. The singer, alleging cruelty, said Robinson called her "ignorant and stupid."

Dog Adopts Two Kittens

Mr. and Mrs. Don Sumako were walking their dog, Tricie, a mongrel terrier, in Monterey, Calif., when she began sniffing a box which contained a couple of two-week-old kittens. The kittens were taken home and Tricie adopted them. They have refused a feline foster mother.

Kirk Mentioned 'Voice' Jamming To Red Premier

Hope For Lend-Lease Settlement Voiced

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—United States Ambassador Alan G. Kirk threw out feelers for improvements in Russian-American relations on two touchy issues when he held his first talk with Premier Stalin in Moscow Monday night.

Secretary of State Acheson told a news conference today that Kirk had mentioned personally to Stalin:

1. American objections to Soviet jamming of the Voice of America radio programs to Russia and
2. American hopes for a windup of the Russian lend-lease settlements that have dragged on now since the end of the last war.

Stalin, who treated Kirk in a courteous and friendly manner, made no particular commitment on either point, Acheson simply reported that both matters were referred by the Russian premier to the Soviet foreign office.

In the same news conference in which he disclosed Kirk's approach to Stalin on these two relatively secondary issues, Acheson issued a statement denouncing the Russian jamming. He declared the State Department's intention to throw reinforcements into its effort to reach the Russian people if Congress will grant the necessary funds.

Acheson recalled that the jamming operation against the Voice of America (and the British Broadcasting Corporation's Russian programs) began four months ago. More than 250 different jamming transmitters have been identified by detectors of the Western Powers and others are believed to be in operation, he said.

"It is now obvious," Acheson said, "that setting up this complex, costly jamming operation took many months of careful planning and that it must be looked upon as a long range plan of the U. S. S. R. for isolating the Russian people even more completely from access to truth and fact about the outside world."

Family Pickets New York Hotel

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (P)—A family picket line—a man, his wife and their nine children—marched in front of the Hotel Statler in busy midtown New York today in an effort to win back his job as doorman.

Hundreds of passersby gathered at 33rd Street and Seventh Avenue to watch Henry Hickey and his family in their protest. The Statler was formerly the Pennsylvania Hotel.

The general manager of the hotel said Hickey was fired because of his ill-temper and because he mistreated a guest who failed to tip him. Hickey carried a sign saying he was "fired without cause."

Acheson Warns West Germans

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—Secretary of State Acheson cautioned the Western Germans today against too much criticism of the western occupation powers.

Acheson told a news conference that "constructive criticism" is to be expected in the new German state and that the Germans should not be denied this privilege.

But, he emphasized, "abuse of such freedoms" may alienate the sympathy of the Western Powers and fail to serve the interests of the German people.

"The Germans may well be reminded," he said, "that they are exercising these freedoms only because they are privileged to live under the jurisdiction of freedom loving nations."

Acheson spoke out in a formal statement three days after the end of the hectic political campaign in West Germany which saw some extreme politicians denouncing the occupation policies of Britain, France and the United States.

This election resulted in the naming of legislators that will sit in the Western German Parliament of the new German republic. The new state is expected to be proclaimed about Sep. 15.

More Time Needed

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (P)—President Truman's steel industry fact-finders said today they probably will ask more time to shape recommendations on a CIO demand for a fourth-round wage increase. The fact-finding report is due on Mr. Truman's desk August 30.

Areas With Rent Control Will Be Cut One-Third

Appropriation Slash Blamed By Expediter

CLEVELAND, Aug. 17 (P)—Federal rent controls will be lifted by October 1 in one-third of the area they are now effective, Housing Expediter T. H. E. Woods announced today.

He said a cut in the congressional appropriation for his office's budget forced the move.

Communities of more than 100,000 probably will not be affected by the cut, and areas in which military establishments are located will remain under control, Woods said.

1,000 Counties Under Control

About 1,000 counties now are under rent ceilings which are effective until next June 30, Woods said. Up to 350 of these will be freed of the ceilings within the next four to six weeks.

Half of the areas to be removed from control will be listed "within a week or 10 days," Woods said, and the rest will be announced in a second list sometime before October 1.

The Housing Expediter and his top regional advisers will meet in Washington tomorrow to discuss the first list, he said.

"We will look at the smallest and least populated areas first, and gradually go into larger communities as we have to," Woods explained. "The cuts will be countrywide, not concentrated in any one particular section."

Large Areas May Be Cut

The decontrolling will not be done, in all instances, by areas, Woods explained. In some cases, large areas may be reduced in size. "If any of the decontrolled areas get out of line," Woods warned, "we will come right back in."

Woods said the budget of his office for the 1950 year was slashed by the Senate from $26 million and then cut further to $17,500,000 by the conference committee of both houses.

"Broke" Agencies Are Given Green Light

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—Congress voted today to let the Army, Navy, Air Force and other important divisions of government go on spending money even though their current appropriations are still in dispute.

The Senate quickly followed the lead of the House in approving a resolution which will release the agencies from their flat-broke status as soon as it is signed by the President. Officially they ran out of money at midnight Monday, and couldn't legally buy anything or even pay the help.

In all, more than $20,000,000,000 is involved.

ATLANTA, Aug. 17 (P)—Margaret Mitchell will be buried tomorrow in a cemetery where lie hundreds of the men of the Confederacy who wrote about in "Gone With the Wind."

British Woman Reaches Iceland On World Flight

REYKJAVIK, Iceland, Aug. 17 (P)—Mrs. Richarda Morrow-Tait landed at Keflavik airport tonight after an 850-mile flight from Greenland.

The 26-year-old British housewife has only one more flight—to realize her ambition of becoming the first woman to pilot a single-engine plane around the world.

Mrs. Morrow-Tait took off from Blue West One, a U. S. air base in Southern Greenland, for Iceland at 8:47 a. m., EST. Michael Townsend, her navigator, steered the course for Keflavik, on the southwest tip of Iceland.

McCarthy Demands Perjury Indictment Of John Maragon

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17 (P)—Sen. Mundt (R-SD) today called Maj. Gen. Harry Vaughan a "finagling bargainer" full of "intimidation, bluff and bluster," and Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) demanded that John Maragon be indicted for perjury.

Vaughan is President Truman's Army aide.

Maragon, a one-time Kansas City shine boy, has become the friend of many a Washington official, including Vaughan.

Mundt's outburst came at a Senate Investigation Subcommittee hearing after a former Agriculture Department employee said that Vaughan had put the heat on him to give more sugar to a New Jersey molasses company.

The employee, Herbert C. Hathorn, said Vaughan made the attempt back in the days of sugar rationing.

Firm Violated Order

Hathorn said the firm Vaughan wanted to get the sugar for, the Allied Molasses Company of Perth Amboy, N. J., had been a "flagrant and willful violator" of a department order suspending it from receiving any more molasses.

Hathorn said Vaughan made it plain that he could get Hathorn's job.

Here Mundt broke in to say that previously he had thought of Vaughan as a "fumbling bungler."

"In this case," said Mundt, "he was a finagling bargainer."

"Perhaps," Mundt continued, "I have been unduly charitable, and I just want to say, I don't like it all." McCarthy made his demand for a perjury indictment of Maragon after Milton R. Pollard testified that he paid Maragon $1,000 — $500 by check and $500 in cash, to help get Allied Molasses more sugar.

Testified Last Month

Pollard is a Milwaukee insurance man whose nephew, Harold W. Ross, is president of Allied.

Last month Maragon appeared before the subcommittee at a closed session.

Testifying under oath, Maragon said then that he never had been paid any money by anyone for negotiating business with the government.

This was read into the record today. And a $500 cancelled check of Pollard's, dated November 20, 1946, and endorsed by Maragon, was made part of the subcommittee's exhibit.

Beran Declares He Is Prisoner

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 17 (P)—Archbishop Josef Beran broke a two months' silence today and accused the Communist government of holding him captive in violation of his constitutional rights.

The stocky, little 60-year-old Roman Catholic primate has not appeared in public since June 19 when a sermon he tried to preach was shouted down by Communist hecklers. He claims now that he has been interned and isolated in his Prague palace.

Archbishop Beran accused the government of illegally seizing his consistory (administrative office) and confiscating the funds of his Prague diocese.

He made the charges in a letter to the state prosecutor (prosecutor) which was given to the foreign press through church and diplomatic channels.

CANTON, Thursday, Aug. 18 (P)—Nationalist China has protested to Great Britain against alleged violation of Chinese territorial waters. It was disclosed today.

Cuban Swimmer Attempting To Conquer English Channel

CAP GRIZ NEZ, France, Thursday, Aug. 18 (P)—Jose Cortinas, 32-year-old Cuban, started swimming across the English Channel this morning at 12:45 a. m. (6:45 p. m. EST, Wednesday).

Cortinas said he hoped to beat the men's channel record of 11½ hours.

"I promised the crew of the boat accompanying me to double their pay if I do beat the record," he said.

The price for the craft is 40,000 francs ($120) and Cortinas said he would pay 80,000 francs if he succeeds in making a new mark.

Cortinas, stocky, 190-pound Cuban clothing store proprietor, said he was sorry Shirley Mae France, American girl swimmer, was not going alone with him.

"I regret she didn't go," he said, "because I would have liked to have someone to talk to."

Shirley Mae's attempt to conquer the channel was postponed yesterday because a still breeze kicked up whitecaps. She is staying at a seaside resort near Calais, France, and may make her effort this afternoon.

During the administration of Mrs. Donovan, the Purple Heart Auxiliary was granted the fourth vice-chairmanship of the Women's Pa-

This was quite an honor, she explained, because there are only six offices available in the conference and the Purple Heart has only been a member for two years. Thirty-five women's organizations belong to the conference.

The Baltimore woman's popularity has been proved by the fact that the New York delegation has endorsed her for a second term although a national president has never succeeded herself in the auxiliary.

However, Mrs. Donovan has no aspirations for breaking the precedent. She's quite satisfied with having been the first Baltimorean and the first Marylander to hold the office of national president.

Head Of Purple Heart Group Speaks His Mind

In his first expression of views and aims of the Military Order of Purple Heart, which is holding its national convention in Cumberland this week, Clifford A. Parmenter, national commander, echoed the belief of Herbert Hoover that our government is spending itself into a socialistic or welfare state. He pulled no punches in his criticism of the Truman Administration proposed programs of excessive spending. Nor did Commander Parmenter hesitate to voice his opposition to some of the demands being made on government by veterans organizations.

Mr. Parmenter defended some legislation sought by those who fought for this country in World Wars I and II, and denounced the 81st Congress, now in session, for its failure to enact what he termed some much needed measures. At the same time, he stated that some requests by veteran organizations are unnecessary and declared "it's time veterans themselves take stock of our nation's plight and the definite drift of our country away from the principles of economic and social freedom." In doing so, Commander Parmenter bespoke the feelings of a vast majority outside the ranks of those who served the nation and brought victory.

There can be no doubt that Commander Parmenter considers many proposals by the Administration would prove a waste of taxpayers' money although there will be those who disbelieve stories that the government is squandering income from the people. The government, according to those adhering to this school of thought, needs every cent of the $42,000,000 it is spending annually. Here are some authenticated items for the record:

Two government bureaus drew designs for a reclamation project in Idaho. Their estimates varied by $75,000,000. The Hungry Horse project in Montana finally cost more than 15 times as much as the original estimate. A Middle West project cost three times as much as original estimates.

It costs $51,000 to provide one bed in a government hospital, $15,000 to $20,000 in a non-government hospital. Private insurance company employees process four times as many policies as do government employees. It takes seven months to fire an incompetent government worker.

The government pays 100,000 employees more than $270,000,000 a year to store and issue supplies. Government records fill 18,000,000 square feet of floor space, the equivalent of six Pentagon buildings. The Navy Department's Bureau of Ships is financed by twenty-seven appropriations, some of which have no apparent connection.

The Veterans Administration asks for $1,000,000,000 for "salaries and expenses" with no explanation. The Army requested $529,000,000 for tanks for the National Guard. It was discovered most of the money would go for tools, not tanks, and the tools were already largely available.

These are only samples of what is going on. Elimination of such practices, according to the Hoover Commission, would save the country $3,000,000,000 quickly and much more later. No informed citizen can doubt that there is a distressing amount of waste.

As Mr. Parmenter points out, "there is certain veteran legislation and certain benefits due the veterans, but each demand must be carefully considered and justified." Few will protest any reasonable legislation and the expenditure of money involved for the rehabilitation of those handicapped as a result of wounds and injuries incurred in battle. But we venture to say that the national head of the Military Order of Purple Heart has little patience with much legislation being urged by veterans, especially in face of the fact that this government has done so well by those who went to war.

The next few days will see delegates to the convention deal with many problems of vital importance to members of their organization, but it is foregone conclusion that under the leadership of Commander Parmenter moderation in pursuit of attainable objectives will be the keynote of this gathering. The Cumberland News welcomes the delegates of the Purple Heart organization to our midst. We trust their visit will be pleasant and beneficial. The people of Cumberland are glad they have come.

On The Trail Of More Important Articles

How to influence an official, or if you are selling something, how to impress a prospect? As various Washington investigations have disclosed, you might throw a party, or make a "loan" or lose at poker, or send along a home freezing unit, or—as a gesture to end all gestures—even provide a pair of orchestra seats for "South Pacific."

Something else and far subtler has been developed, which must appeal to everybody with delicate sensibilities and a sense of drama. This is to hand the prospect a bunch of match books stamped with "White House" or "H. H. V." (Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughn, presidential aide) or the familiar "Swiped from Harry Truman." Distributed with discretion, an assorted deck of these, each intimating familiarity with the White House and its tenants, might take the place of letters of introduction or a charge account, or even land a contract.

But a properly suspicious Congress is on the trail of something more important than match books.

Wigs And Spectacles

In a progress report on the first year of Great Britain's "Cradle to the Grave" socialized medical program, the House of Commons was told that:

Over 4,500,000 pairs of spectacles have been supplied free to myopic and astigmatic Britons to date, and that between three and four million more pairs are on order.

More than 8,000 wigs had been ordered, and slightly more than a quarter of that number had been supplied.

There was no estimate of the number of false teeth that had been ordered and supplied. What chance do you suppose the Tories have in next year's elections, what with this mass of Britons: speaking no evil through their nationalized molars; seeing no evil through their nationalized specs; feeling no evil through their bald pates through their luxuriant, nationalized wigs?

In the Good Time Coming whenever everybody is drawing a pension and nobody is working, the Lord will have to get busy with That Mania.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Man Should Reach 120

HOW would you like to live to be 100 years old? If a poll were taken, we would find that opinions vary because it is natural to abhor the thought of growing old. But the situation might be different if we knew what it was like to be a centenarian.

Dr. Ivan Basylewicz, formerly professor of medicine, Kiev, Ukraine, worked for years on this subject and wrote a book on 72 elderly individuals; but the war prevented its publication. A condensation was translated into English by Dr. Alex M. Burgess, Sr., and the material was printed in a recent issue of the Rhode Island medical journal.

Only 34 of the oldest in the series were centenarians; the remainder were in their 90's. Their lives were not, as might be expected, hanging by a thread; nor did they exist in the pale shadows of the past. On the contrary, Dr. Basylewicz found to his astonishment that most of them were enjoying life, had remarkable memories, and clear mentalities. They were interested in their surroundings and had some ability to work. Many looked like any well preserved person of 70. Of the group, 19 were considered not quite healthy; nine were ill; and three were totally incapacitated.

Only a few had made a deliberate attempt to attain a ripe old age by following the advice of other oldsters. This is just as well inasmuch as every one past 80 attributes his longevity to a different reason. Apparently those who actually approach the century mark have minded their own business and continued to live as they always had. A favorable heredity was important and their pasts were distinguished by robust constitutions, good health, endurance, and muscular strength. The majority encountered few illnesses from childhood on. In most cases they were "passionate smokers and not given to refusing alcohol." Furthermore, they were not vegetarians. These men and women were mainly simple folk without the advantages of abundance and prosperity, having been villagers and agricultural workers who earned their bread by the sweat of their brows. All had been married and had numerous descendants.

Examination of these individuals revealed many changes, most of which could hardly be considered abnormal since they have no effect on longevity. The skin was like parchment and furrowed with wrinkles, the hair thin, the eyes hollow, the mouth sunken, and the jaws wasted. Many were stooped with considerable decrease in height as well as weight and the muscles were atrophied and sluggish. Tests revealed that the organs showed various evolutionary changes but the subjects had adapted themselves unconsciously to the modifications. They slept well and enjoyed good food even though the sensations of hunger and thirst were diminished. A difficulty that was overcome by consuming less food and water. They were emotionally stable and mentally calm. Deterioration was evident but it was generalized and well compensated. Seventy-five per cent had a blood pressure within normal limits.

The author concluded that 100 to 120 years should be the regular span of human life. At this age, senility exists without the disturbances and deviations from the normal which we call disease. To achieve this end, we should institute measures early in life to help prevent pathological aging and premature death.

TOMORROW: Surgical repair of heart defects.

NEURITIS

G. P. writes: Can diseased tonsils cause neuritis?

Reply
A focus of infection anywhere in the body may lead to inflammation of the nerves. Neuritis has many other causes, however. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on neuritis.

CANCER PRECAUTIONS

H. J. writes: How can mouth cancer be prevented?

Reply
Among the precautionary measures that can be taken are: eliminate sources of chronic irritation such as jagged teeth. Pipe smoking enters into the picture also. Good oral hygiene should be practiced at all times.

ULCERS

H. T. writes: What causes peptic ulcers of the skin?

Reply
Peptic ulcer occurs only in the stomach and duodenum. Lesions on the body's surface are referred to as skin ulcers and the majority develop on the legs as a result of a circulatory disturbance.

ANEMIA AND PAIN

L. K. writes: Can anemia cause chest pain?

Reply
Yes, if the blood disorder is severe. Mild and borderline anemias rarely lead to symptoms.

EPILEPSY

R. L. writes: Is epilepsy always inherited?

Reply
No, as the disorder may be induced by injury, birth defects, brain tumors, or infections.

California Dems In Hectic Scramble For Gubernatorial Nomination With Undercover Jockeying Centered In Washington; Air Force Vs Navy League

Says ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Ed. Note.—While Drew Pearson is on vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—California's muddled Democratic scramble for Governor is getting more hectic by the hour—although the primary is still a year off.

The air is blue with tales of intrigues and secret deals among the pack of hot-eyed aspirants.

At least a half-dozen are in the field, led by James Roosevelt, eldest son of the late President, and George Luckey, millionaire cattleman, openhanded 1948 Truman supporter, and bitter foe of young Roosevelt.

Luckey press agents claim he has White House backing. Spokesmen of the President emphatically say he is keeping strict hands-off this and all other state contests. James Roosevelt is saying he has AFL and other labor support. Luckey and other candidates counter that California law is split on a choice.

Curious aspect of the feverish scramble is that much of the undercover jockeying centers in Washington. Luckey has made a number of hush-hush trips to the capital, and most of the other candidates, or their agents, have made treks. All filter a constant stream of rumors and tips eastward.

Latest to reach Democratic National Headquarters is the following: A secret conference recently took place between James Roosevelt and George McClain, top poobah of California old age-pension promoters. Purpose of the meeting was to consider a Roosevelt-McClain ticket; the former for governor, the latter for lieutenant governor.

Cement for the alliance would be McClain's "delivery" of his 250,000 pension followers and Roosevelt's public support of their pension plan, on which the state ballots in a special election this November.

Red-hot kicker on this hot tale is—that one of the prime movers of this alleged deal is Arthur Samish, massive "king" of California lobbyists.

Note 1: California's population has increased so enormously in recent years that the state is certain of a minimum of seven new congressional seats in the 1950 reapportionment. It now has 23.

Note 2: Republican insiders say the party will ditch embattled Attorney General Frederick Napoleon Howser next year. He insists he will run again.

Secret Document

Lieut. Gen. Lawton Collins was very insistent on clearing his desk when photographers swarmed in after his elevation to Army Chief of Staff. They were curious about this caution and Collins grinningly explained:

"It's because I got burnt once. I was very embarrassed by some pictures made at my headquarters in the ETO when the Germans surrendered. I was waiting for two big-shot kraut generals to be brought in and was writing a letter to my wife. I had just written her about the impending arrival when the two krauts were brought in. I left the typewriter on my desk while the photographers took pictures, and I'll be darned if one of the pictures that was published didn't show clearly my letter and what I had written to my wife."

Navy League

The truculently anti-Air Force Navy League is due for a rough going-over when the B-36 probe resumes next week. Rep. James Vandenberg, R., Pa., whose charges precipitated the investigation, is on close terms with the League. He is a captain in the Navy Reserve.

Irate Air Force insiders are putting the finger on the league as the author of the anonymous letter, denouncing B-36 procurement, that created a furor on the opening day of the investigation.

Conspicuously absent at the hearings is Rep. James Wadsworth, R., N. Y. His son-in-law is Stuart Symington, secretary of air.

Displaced Persons

Neither side minced words in the closed-door meeting of the Senate immigration subcommittee when Senator Pat McCarran, D., Nev., refused to budge on his blockade of the House-passed bill to liberalize the "anti-semitic and anti-Catholic" displaced persons law.

"Charges that this act is discriminatory are hokum," McCarran snapped. "I worked with Senator Revercomb (1948 West Virginia Republican lame-duck) on this act when it was drafted, and I know that the charges are untrue."

Sen. Matt Neely, D., who defeated Revercomb, took up the challenge.

"Revercomb and I are both Presbyterians," he said. "I had the strongest support of the Presbyterians because they considered this bill discriminatory. The Presbytery of northern West Virginia, last summer, took the extraordinary action of denouncing the Revercomb-McCarran Act as prejudiced and expressed their indignation at Revercomb in no uncertain terms."

"Did the Presbyterians explain why they considered it discriminatory?" demanded McCarran.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Three Chaplains

THE Navy has taken the most unusual step of appointing Commander Joshua L. Goldberg as district chaplain of the Third Naval District which includes the New York area. It is the first time that a Rabbi has attained this high office in the history of our armed services.

Chaplain Goldberg arrived in the United States in 1917. He immediately enlisted in the Army, saw service in France in the A.E.F. He learned the English language while he was in the Army. After the war, he studied for the rabbinate and served in a synagogue until World War II, when he entered the Navy as a chaplain and has been there since.

A graduate of the University of Odessa, a linguist, he is an extraordinarily efficient person, but his real genius is his breadth of view, his ability to cooperate with men of other faiths without compromising his own.

He once said to me: "Religion may be suppressed in some countries. Religious men may be at the throat of each other. Still there is, in America, a basic sportsmanship inherent in democracy. This is still a haven for one's spirit. Another fact that must be kept in mind is that there are no Jewish chaplains in any other Navy in the world. And even Great Britain would not allow a chaplain of one faith to be in administrative charge of a chaplain of another faith in the Navy. Hence, they have three chiefs of chaplains: Anglican, Roman Catholic and the representatives of the free churches. Jews are included in the category of free churches there."

It is perhaps not altogether a coincidence that simultaneous with Chaplain Goldberg's appointment, Rear Admiral Stanton W. Salisbury, U.S.N., should have been appointed chief chaplain of the Navy. There

"They didn't have to explain because the American press, including leading Republican papers, had explained the discriminatory features in no uncertain terms. This unfair law was a major issue in my campaign and I intend to see to it that it is changed."

Sen. Scott Lucas, Ill., Democratic floor leader, broke in with a conciliatory question.

"Pat, you have a bill on this subject," he said. "What would you do if Howard (Senator McGrath, D., R.I.) moves to discharge the committee and report out your own bill?"

"I will oppose it."

"I can't get it out, Scott," broke in McGrath, "unless Pat is willing to cooperate."

Lucas made still another appeal to McCarran to allow action on the measure. He refused to make any concessions.

"What will you do if the Republicans take the initiative and move to discharge this committee?" asked Neely.

"I'll do plenty," retorted McCarran. "If they start anything, I'll keep them here until Christmas. I will not stand for any shoving around."

That ended the meeting. Later, Neely told Vice President Barkley: "The wraps are off now. I am not going to stand for McCarran's bluff. I am going to do everything in my power to get that bill out of his committee. I will work with the Republicans or anyone else to do that."

were three of them who, in World War II, built courageously a chaplain service ideal of ministering to the young men of whatever faith—so that the chaplain represented at times, particularly under stress, not his own religion but all the religions. There were three of them, Captain Stanton W. Salisbury, Commander John R. Robinson and Lieutenant Commander Joshua L. Goldberg. It was Father Jack Robinson, as he was always referred to, and Captain Salisbury, who created the Navy Chaplain's School at Norfolk, Virginia, and who inspired so many with the ideal of "cooperation without compromise." These three men, ministers of three faiths, formed in the Navy a lasting friendship which transcended every human barrier.

Father Jack Robinson had told his parents that should anything happen to him, they were to communicate with "Josh" Goldberg, and when he did come down in a plane crash, it was Captain Salisbury who tended him during his last moments. It was this spirit of brotherhood that built the Navy Chaplain's service into something more and different from anything that had been known before.

In these days, when we quarrel over petty matters, it is refreshing to note that men who have devoted their lives to God can find a common ground and a deep affection and can labor for the spiritual life of our young people without bigotry. Chaplains Salisbury and Goldberg represent the broadest view and it is interesting that both appointments have been received with enthusiasm by the Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

I like the concept of a broad chaplain's service, for whereas so many are worried these days about the intrusion of the church and the state, our armed forces have the wisdom of know-

Burden Consumer Endures Under Price Support Plan

By MARK SULLIVAN

IN THE current discussion in Congress about price support for farm crops, no proposal looks toward ending the practice, only an occasional individual suggests that. What is likely to emerge is continuation of the law essentially as it is, with not very material changes in some details, such as limited flexibility in fixing the prices at which some crops shall be supported. Price support is going to continue with us as a national problem. The nature of the problem is illustrated by some present conditions that have arisen under it.

The Department of Agriculture owns some seventy million pounds of dried eggs (acquired through an agency called the Commodity Credit Corporation). The department does not want the eggs. It did not buy them because it wanted them or had use for them. It bought them for the purpose of keeping up the price of shell eggs in the open market. That is the purpose of the price support law, the authority under which the department buys many farm crops.

Eggs Are An Embarrassment
The eggs on hand are an embarrassment to the department. Twenty million pounds are left over from purchases made last year. About fifty million pounds have been bought this year, and they are still being bought. To get rid of some of them, the department last month offered sixteen million pounds for sale abroad at prices of 65 and 67 cents a pound. This represents an immense loss; the price the department paid for them, reckoned on the basis of the support price for shell eggs in the open market, was $1.26-$1.28 a pound.

Here arises one of many questions the American consumer is likely to ask. Why should the department sell its eggs abroad, why not sell them here at home and give American consumers of eggs a break? The answer is that the price support law forbids. The law provides, as to the many crops the department buys, that it must not make any sale for edible consumption anywhere in the United States at a price lower than the department paid. The reason is obvious, once you accept the principle of price support. The purpose is to keep prices up. If the department, having bought a crop at its support price, later sold at a lower price, the purpose of the law would of course be defeated. The American consumer will just have to think that over.

For supporting many crops, the department practices direct purchase, as in the case of eggs. Of butter, the department has bought this year some ten million pounds, at prices which it fixed some months ago at 59 cents a pound calling persons outside of Washington. Sometimes the phone rings and a voice says: "This is the White House calling." After that, when the voice is identified, it often assumed that whoever speaks is doing so with White House authority.

General Vaughan presumably has the right to speak for the White House. If the words "military aide" had been dropped from his title and he had acted simply as one of the many civilian assistants at the White House, it is doubtful whether much fuss would have been stirred up about his activities. As one of the President's assistants, he has had the right to telephone to or confer with anybody about anything happening in the government.

The impropriety, if any, on General Vaughan's part was in going beyond the functions of a military aide, though again and again in the past military aides have acted virtually as super-secretaries.

The acceptance of gifts in itself cannot be held to be improper unless in some way the gift can be proved to have been related to some governmental action taken. If, indeed, it can be proved that it was a bribe, then the laws already on the statute books can take care of such cases.

When the lobbyist is given an audience and permitted to present his case in a government office, there is no impropriety in listening to such lobbyists. The necessity, however, for full disclosure and registration is just as great in the executive end of the government as in Congress. At present lobbyists in and around Congress must not only register monthly the money they receive but must reveal all expenses they incur in the course of their lobbying.

Lobbying Goes On Extensively
Lobbying in Washington goes on extensively during sessions of Congress, but it is relatively inconsequential in amount compared to the lobbying done in and around the executive agencies of the government all the year 'round. If one is covered, the other ought to be also. Strictly speaking, there is less reason for pursuing the lobbyists than for protecting the public interest against improper use of money or influence.

The "deep freeze" incident could in itself be inconsequential. If, however, it is indicative of the use of large gifts of money or things to influence the action of officials in the executive branch of the government, it is of vital concern to the American people. Only a thorough inquiry into lobbying at the executive end of the government now can reveal the truth. The House of Representatives has an excellent opportunity to broaden its inquiry and enact remedial legislation.

Such men as Chaplains Salisbury and Goldberg and the late Jack Robinson never thought in terms of where or in what faith a boy was born, but only that he is a boy, far from home, serving his country—and he needs a friend. Such men have a tremendous capacity for friendship and they lavish it upon our sons. Should we ever have to go to war again, we shall find this comfort in our sleepless nights, that our sons are not alone, but are watched over by such men as these.

I like the concept of a broad chaplain's service, for whereas so many are worried these days about the intrusion of the church and the state, our armed forces have the wisdom of know-

ALONG THE POTOMAC TO WASHINGTON

(By Representative J. Glenn Beall, Sixth Maryland District)

THE sober and appropriate speech of Herbert Hoover, the only living American ex-president, on his 75th birthday, warning of the evils of huge and unconscionable federal spending, drew nods of approval from most thoughtful members of Congress. Long since, the members of Congress, both Republican and Democratic, who understand how our economic system works and how the power over the purse means a power over the peoples' will, have been warning against the evils of too-great federal spending.

Yet, despite the clear realization among millions of Americans of this evil of big federal spending, the Congressmen who feel this way definitely are in the minority. They have seen appropriation after appropriation steam-rollered through this year for one or the other of the administration's favorite projects.

It is now certain that there will be a $3 billion to $5 billion deficit in this present fiscal year, which began July 1. In short, in one of the years of greatest material prosperity ever known to the American people, their government is not able to spend less than it collects in taxes. Virtually every businessman and individual—rightly—is complaining of high taxes, making it politically inadvisable for anyone to vote for more taxes. The only sensible alternative would be a cut in spending, but there has been no such cut and there will be no such cut as long as the present administrators call the tune.

The House of Representatives passed a Minimum Wage last week, providing for a 75-cent minimum wage throughout industry. In view of the high prices of groceries and the necessities of life, an overwhelming majority of the Congressmen felt it was fair that the lowest-paid workers in our society should not obtain less than 75 cents an hour for strictly industrial work.

It is evident that this bill, too, is inflationary to some extent, for the new wage cost simply will be passed along to consumers who buy the goods produced by the workers. Also, whether intentionally or not, the bill will help prevent more prospective small businessmen from going into business, since it increases the amount of capital they must have before they can consider going into business for themselves.

As weeks pass and Congress acts on fewer and fewer bills, it is evident that the President and his legislative leaders are keeping the House and Senate in session in an effort to impress the people with Mr. Truman's sincerity for his program.

In point of fact, Mr. Truman is going right ahead, enjoying himself and taking week-end vacations and otherwise taking it easy, while he hopes to create the impression that he is "worried" about his legislative program. The truth is, he promised more to the voters than he could deliver and the realization of that fact not only makes him resentful of Congress, it makes him fearful of what the people may do at the next election if he doesn't make a show of delivering.

We in Congress heard a most powerful and moving address by Epido Quirino, President of the Republic of the Philippines who stressed the need for a strong Pacific Union. As one who has seen for years the mistakes and fumbles of the Department of State in the Far East, I favor every reasonable measure possible to promote collective security in the Far Pacific, for, in the long years ahead, we will have a greater stake than we have even in Europe, for there is to be the center of industrial development among the teeming millions of Asia.

UNDER THE DOME

I have been successful in having Cumberland placed on the list of areas needing assistance because of the unemployment situation. Presidential Assistant John Steelman has contacted Government agencies asking that every effort be made to channel aid into this area.

I appeared before the House Judiciary Committee in behalf of my bill H. R. 2536 to incorporate the 29th Division.

In connection with my being named Honorary Chairman in the Seventeenth Annual National Convention, Military Order of the Purple Heart meeting in Cumberland this week, I am meeting with the delegates in convention and participating in the program. I have cooperated with the Chairman in securing the services of the Marine Band for the parade on tomorrow night and the services of Chaplain Morgan who is a member of the Purple Heart.

Three Cumberland Women To Attend Doll Parade Today

Will Receive
Merit Scroll

Three members of the Woman's Association of the First Presbyterian Church will attend the "Pied Piper" Doll Festival Parade this afternoon in Somerset, Pa.

The will receive a scroll of merit from Miss Margaret Reiley of the Somerset-American who has sponsored a Drive for Dolls for children overseas. The Association has sponsored the drive locally.

Receiving the scroll will be Mrs. Frederick C. Haas, president of the association; Mrs. P. G. Ervin, assistant to the pastor, and Mrs. Lester Martin, who has headed the doll drive here.

Approximately 66 dolls have been gathered from the Cumberland area, Mrs. Martin said. Two of these had complete wardrobe made by hand.

One woman from Frostburg sent eight dolls after reading about the drive. On Tuesday, Mrs. Martin took 11 dolls, one of them a Dutch Boy with handmade silken garments, to Somerset.

The Cumberland women will be presented with scrolls following a parade in which the King and Queen Dolls and a 12-member court will be carried on floats.

The children of Somerset County will dress up like story book characters and complete for prizes.

THE men with desolate, desert domes will believe anything—so long as it claims it can grow hair! . . . That's why they're such suckers for ointments and brushes and special massagers, and electric whoosies to stimulate scalps.

But government authorities are now cracking down on hair restoratives and "hair-growing" manufacturers . . . The nasty government says the products do not do for bald heads what the manufacturers claim.

Again this year Mr. Carl Brandenfels has been in town struggling with the Food and Drug Administration, and Congress . . . They object to his calling himself "THE HAIR FARMER" . . .

Brandenfels insists he is a "farmer" because he grows crops, crops of hair the same way other horticulturists harvest wheat . . . Mr. Brandenfels says he can sprout follicles on even the most barren fields of scalp.

Last year The Hair Farmer paid a lot of calls on The Hill to see if he could round up some volunteer guinea pigs.

Representative Sam Rayburn allowed as how he was perfectly willing but very pessimistic.

"Anybody who can grow hair on my head," said Sam, "has my complete backing."

Rayburn is still bald as a baby's foot.

Despite objections of the Food and Drug people Hair Farmer seems to be doing all right . . . Flies his own plane, owns a big home, and his own private airfield in St. Helens, Oregon.

Naked in an igloo, eating an ice cream cone, and far as your eye can see nothing but snow, acres of snow . . .

Ah, but it feels delicious to wallow in such thoughts when the temperature zooms.

So far Jake has not been caught with his pants down and had to give away any free suits.

the Raleigh hotel rides to his office very morning on the streetcar . . . Other morning a car came along, stopped at the platform where the white-haired gentleman was waiting.

Though he beat frantically on its windows with his folded paper, the motorman ignored him, would not open the doors, started up the streetcar and left the old fellow shaking his paper furiously.

C'est la vie—it can happen to anybody. In this case the white-haired old gentleman was a United States Senator, Clyde Hoey, pride of North Carolina!

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

It's easy to have that coveted "flat as a pancake" look! John Robert Powers tells you how to attain it and keep it!

A firm, flat midriff is something to treasure and nurture all of your life. It signals your youthfulness; it enhances your posture . . . it permits you to display your clothes and your smartness. And it is most important to your health and comfort.

Nature provided you with a girdle that far outdoes any devised by any corset manufacturer. The abdomen's encircling sheath of muscle tissue stretches not two, but three ways! Vertically, horizontally and obliquely as well! While all materials that can be stretched tend to say through disuse and misuse, the one Nature gave you can be "toned" and rejuvenated beautifully.

For a Flat Abdomen

To keep your midriff "flat as a pancake" and to avoid that much dreaded paunchy abdomen with its ugly accumulation of fat deposits, pull the muscles of your abdomen in every minute of every day—and pull them in hard! A little conscious control will soon become your unconscious habit. That's the best insurance figure you can have.

If you've been forgetting these muscles for too long a period of time, take corrective measures right away. One of the best is this strengthening exercise, called "sit-ups". Lie on the floor. Raise your arms overhead; swing them forward so that you rise up to a sitting position with them; do not let your feet leave the floor. Start slowly at this one! It's really tough and two or three times a day is enough in the beginning. As your muscles strengthen, increase the number of times at your own speed to about twenty-five.

For a Thin Abdomen

Slimness in the abdominal region is well worth preserving or working for. An excellent exercise for this is rolling. It will strengthen muscles and reduce fatty tissue at the same time. Again, lie on your back on the floor. Bend both knees up but not so far that your feet leave the floor. Stretch your arms out to your sides in a straight line with your shoulders. Now, roll your body from side to side from your waist. Keep your arms and shoulders on the floor. Make the outside of your thighs touch the floor with every roll. Use your abdominal muscles to pull you from side to side. Feel that pull! It means good news for your figure!

A little time, energy and concentration will bring such gratifying results that you'll never let yourself go in this way again. I'll bet!

Pickets Warn Miners; May Return Today

A band of roving pickets which appeared in Westernport last Thursday to warn mine owners against operating in excess of a three-day week is expected to reappear today and mine owners were in doubt yesterday as to their course of action. Westernport Police yesterday revealed that three or four carloads of men in vehicles bearing Maryland tags visited the town last week and approached several owners of small non-organized mines in the Tri-Towns Area. The men stayed only about an hour.

One trucker said a group of the visitors approached him while he was loading coal on a gondola in Westernport and threatened to upset his truck if he continued to haul coal.

Another miner said a number of workers repairing a bulldozer at his operations had been told to stop work. In both cases, the unidentified fired pickets said they would return today to check up on work schedules.

The Sheriff's Office yesterday said deputies are investigating the matter after Westernport Police reported it. Deputies said they will probably have officials in Westernport today as a precautionary measure.

United Mine Workers officials had no comment on the activities. The union has decreed a three-day work week. UMW officials, however, said few UMW in the George's Creek section are working more than two or three days a week because of a slack in orders.

Several Westernport mine owners yesterday denied any knowledge of the action of the pickets last week.

Man Fined $20 For 'Locking Out' Wife

Dewey Mort, 221 Henderson Avenue, was fined $20 for drunk and disorderly conduct in a Police Court hearing yesterday morning after he locked his wife, an expectant mother, out of their house late Tuesday night.

Officer Ralph Buser said the woman was barefooted when she approached him and made the complaint.

Edwin Van Meter, 701 Baltimore Avenue, forfeited $25 bond on a charge of maintaining a gaming device at the Ideal Tavern. Police said they found two punchboards and two tipboards at his place Tuesday.

Plan Rescue Stations

The Maryland Bureau of Mines will establish a mine rescue station at the hall of the Kitzmiller Volunteer Fire Company, according to Frank T. Powers, bureau director. A trained man will be in full time charge of rescue equipment, which will include oxygen breathing apparatus, a Chemox machine, gas masks, carbon monoxide detectors and methane detectors.

Powers said another rescue station will be located in Frostburg. Another is now in operation at Westernport. Mine Bureau officials will soon begin classes at Kitzmiller.

Yankees And Boston Win, Cleveland Loses Two Games

Whitney Martin's
SPORTS TRAIL

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—That's an intriguing situation in Boston whereby Ted Williams is given a base hit when a second baseman, playing out of position in short right, bobbles the ball and Ted reaches first safely.

The theory is that the ball was hit in hit territory, and consequently is a hit no matter what the fielder does. Unless, of course, he throws the runner out.

We can't go along with the theory that it is a hit because it is in "hit territory," because if you followed that line of reasoning you'd have to call Ted out if he hit an easy grounder through the vacant shortstop spot as that is where the short-stop should have been playing.

We do think that stores have other things to consider when a Williams' hit into right field is judged, however, and, based on judgment, of course, the lanky slugger might be given a hit under certain circumstances.

In the first place, Williams hits a ball terrifically hard most of the time. We've stood behind the batting cage and watched the ball take off. For some reason, perhaps his wrist action, the ball seems to dip and curve and soar unpredictably.

Under normal circumstances it is hard to handle. Figuring that the outfield, without the constant mauling of the infield, offers a margin of safety from which a spinning ball is liable to bounce in any direction, the fielder out there faces a tough job.

He might get his hands partially on a ball hit right at him, but that last second erratic bounce makes it impossible for him to hold it. In that case a hit is justified. It's all a question of the scores' judgment.

We learn that to date three balls hit by Williams that have been called hits, have been credited as hits. We didn't see the plays, so can't pass judgment, but from what we have seen, of Williams' hits that have been called hits, it certainly would leave a strong odor.

Aside from the pitcher and catcher, the rules provide no specified area where a defensive player must play. It is customary for players of all teams to move a few steps one way or the other in their defense against certain hitters who are known to pull or slice the ball.

It all shifts down to the degree of the shift. The Williams shift is just an exaggeration of the usual shift, that's all, and there is nothing in the rules differentiating between a move of three feet and 50 feet.

So, except in the sense that a ball is hit where normally it would be safe, there is no such thing as hit territory. But if, as mentioned, the scorer figures that the ball hit toward a player who is playing out of position in short right is too hard to handle because of conditions also previously mentioned, he is justified in rating it a safety.

Williams, from a power and percentage standpoint, year in and year out probably is the best hitter in baseball. He doesn't need cheap hits to prove his greatness.

When Lou Boudreau started that Williams' shift business he didn't know the controversies which might develop.

10-Year Pact Signed
For All-Star Grid
Contest At Chicago

CHICAGO, Aug. 17 (AP)—A new ten year contract guaranteeing the continuation of the Chicago All-Star football game was signed today.

Bert Bell, commissioner of the National Football League, and Arch Ward, sports editor of the Chicago Tribune and vice president of the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc., affixed their signatures to the pact.

The agreement becomes effective with the 1950 game and replaces the contract drawn in 1942, which had two years to run.

The All-Star game has been played annually since 1934 under sponsorship of the Chicago Tribune Charities. Profits have been divided equally among the United, Catholic and Jewish charities of Chicago, except during the war years when they were donated to the Service Men's Relief Funds.

The new agreement gives the Chicago game priority on all incoming contracts to the National League clubs. Every participant will be protected by insurance against loss of salary due to injury in practice or the game itself up to $10,000.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Aug. 17 (AP)—A Washington, D. C., American Legion junior baseball team forced a playoff for the Region 3 title by turning back undefeated Wheeling 8-5 here today.

It was the second victory of the day for the Washington team, representing Bunker Hill Post. Earlier, Washington had ousted Baltimore's Clifton Post No. 205 by a 7-0 score in a replay of a 3-3 tie yesterday that called at the end of 11 innings because of darkness.

The Bunker Hill-Wheeling game left each team with one defeat in the tournament play. They will meet again at 1:30 p. m. (EST) tomorrow for the title and the right to represent the region in area play of Trenton, N. J. Scores:

Announced Today

MAMARONECK, N. Y., Aug. 17 (AP)—Playing assignments will be announced at noon tomorrow for the Walker Cup matches between the cream of British amateur golfers and the best simon pures in the United States.

The matches will be played Friday and Saturday over the gently rolling tree-lined Winged Foot golf club.

National Amateur Champion Willie Turnesa heads the 10-man American squad from which non-playing Captain Francis Ouimet will choose.

Almost sure to be selected besides Turnesa are Frank Stranahan, Skeet Riegei and Ted Bishop, 8 matches to 4, at St. Andrews, Scotland, in 1947.

Ray Billows of Staatsburg, N. Y., runner-up to Turnesa in the National last year, and Charles Kocsis of Royal Oak, Mich., also were considered probable starters. Both were members of the 1938 team, only American squad to lose in the series that began in 1922.

Others on the American squad are Johnny Dawson, Los Angeles; James McHale, Jr., Philadelphia; Bruce McCormick, Los Angeles; and Charles Cox, Oklahoma City. Ouimet could distribute the assignments so that all would get a chance to play.

The British squad is captained by left-hander Laddie Lucas. He is well fortified with talent including husky Max McCready, the British amateur king.

McCready whipped both Stranahan and Turnesa this summer and has displayed brilliant golf in his practice rounds here.

Others on the squad are Ernest Millward, Cecil Ewing, Gerald Micklen, Joseph Carr, James Bruen, Kenneth Thom, Ronald White and Arthur Perowne, Lucas, himself, will play.

There will be four 36-hole scotch foursomes Friday and eight twosomes over 36 holes on Saturday.

The Scotch foursomes, popular in Britain but seldom played in America, calls for each two-man team to play only one ball. The two partners stroke the ball alternately.

East Side Wins
The East Side Girls' team of the Queen's League defeated Ellerslie yesterday afternoon at East Side fields by the score of 4 to 1 as Doris Adams hurled a one-hitter.

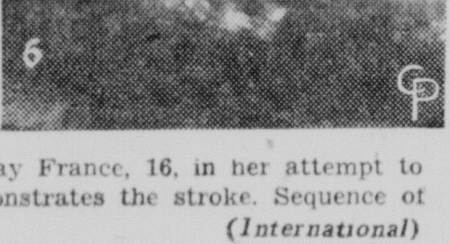

The only base hit allowed by the slender boud hurler was a home-run by Kathleen Beal in the seventh which accounted for Ellerslie's only run.

Donna Decker hit a homer and Mary Naughton had two for three for the winners. The score: ELLERSLIE . . . 000 000 1-1 1 1
EAST SIDE . . . 301 000 x-4 8 4

Annual Event Set For September 24 And 25;
Entry Blanks Mailed

Entries blanks and announcements are being mailed out this week to all horse owners and members of the National Horse Association for the third annual Cumberland Horse Show at the Cumberland Fair Grounds September 24 and 25, Alvin Yaste, publicity chairman, said last night.

The event, sponsored by the local Lions Club and sanctioned by the American Horsemen's Association, is expected to draw many fine horses, jumpers, gaiters, trotters, show horses, and others from the surrounding territory.

Proceeds For Blind
The proceeds of the affair will go to the underprivileged blind children of this area as part of the local club's effort in behalf of Lions International program for "sight conservation and the blind."

Michael C. Heiskell and William Jenkins, members of the executive committee of the Cumberland Horse Show, are assisting the Lions Club in its venture.

Heiskell is chairman of the event and Jenkins is secretary. Heiskell will be assisted by Albert E. Windish of the Lions Club as co-chairman while William Carscaden, president of the local Lions Club, will be assistant secretary to Jenkins.

Other chairmen named for committees are Lynn C. Lashley, tickets and reservations; Edgar Vandegraft, programs and stabling; Mangus Voss, ground and stabling; and Chester E. Fisher, finance.

Yaste also stated that an office probably will be set up within the next few days in the Liberty Trust Company building where reservations, entries, etc., will be handled by the local Lionesses, auxiliary members of the Lions Club.

Dance Is Planned
Owners of horses which win ribbons and trophies at the local event may add the points scored toward entry into the national horse show at Madison Square Garden.

After the afternoon of Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 24 and 25, a party and dance will be held at the Jockey Club Saturday night for visiting horsemen and their families, Yaste said.

A meeting of all chairmen will be held tonight at 7 p. m. at the local YMCA to discuss future plans for the event, Yaste stated.

Md. GOP Leaders
Discuss Strategy

BALTIMORE, Aug. 17 (AP)—State Republican leaders held a luncheon meeting here today to discuss party problems and strategy.

Afterwards, Sen. Stanford Hoff (R-Carroll), head of the party's state central committee, said there "was some talk of gubernatorial material" for next year's election.

There was a report that William C. Purnell, assistant commander of the 29th National Guard Division with the rank of brigadier general, had received the leaders' endorsement as the candidate for governor.

Spokesmen were quick to call the report exaggerated.

Purnell, a member of the Baltimore City Service Commission, attended the meeting. He said he was unaware of any endorsement.

Furnell promised an early statement in relation to urging by friends that he run for governor.

"For the present, no comment," he added.

Trinity Church Wants Minister Returned

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—Two resolutions were adopted by the fourth quarterly Conference of the Official Board of Trinity Methodist Church Tuesday with Dr. Fred B. Wyand, superintendent of Moorefield District presiding.

The resolutions were presented by Carl W. Shaffer, chairman of the board, in which they thanked Rev. O. C. Mitchell, pastor of the church, for his excellent leadership of the church and requested that the annual conference which meets next month in Charleston return him to the Piedmont charge.

The second resolution thanked Dr. Wyand for his leadership in the past six years. The laws of the church require him to give up the office of superintendent at the end of this conference year.

Eugene Brown To Be Reburied

PIEDMONT, W. Va.—The body of Cpl. Eugene Joseph Brown, 22, USMC, son of Mrs. Edna Brown Gentile, 14 Second Street, and husband of Mrs. Rita Whitcomb Brown, Washington, D. 4-Year-Old "Nurse" Aids Keyser Ambulance Drive

KEYSER, W. Va.—A little Keyser girl who wants to be a nurse turned over $2 she won in the baby buggy pushing contest here last night to the fund for a new ambulance for the city.

Caroline Deputy, four-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John G. Deputy, Keyser, took second prize in the contest held as a part of the annual V-J Day celebration of Vigilant Reel and Hose Company.

Dressed as a nurse, Caroline pushed a buggy bearing the slogan "Give to the Keyser Ambulance Fund." Her mother, a registered nurse, said Caroline expects to be a nurse, too, some day.

When Caroline received her prize she walked over to one of a score of cardboard containers located around Keyser and dropped in her prize money.

First prize winner in last night's contest was Lois Schell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Schell, who was dressed in an old-fashioned costume.

The contest, a feature of the week-long observance, was staged on Armstrong Street between Davis and Center Streets. After the contest the Keyser American Legion Band gave a concert in the new fire hall.

A highlight of the contest was the performance of two firemen, Carl Downey and James Briley, dressed as a "mother," wheeled Briley, the "baby," down the street in a wheelbarrow. Downey was presented a wreath of laurel, while Briley received a miniature doll.

Contestants included Sandra Catherine Herndon, Nancy Tasker, Margie Ann Moore, David Downey, Sharon Constable, Mary Chapman, Glen Lee Miller, Darlene House, Elaine Sylvester, Sue Lyn Boor, Sue Sidney Green, Anna Kathryn Snider, Joyce Stickley, Robert Shadler and Mary Lou Tucker.

Services will be held Friday at 10 a. m. in Baltimore. Then the body will be taken to Meyersdale for burial in Union Cemetery at 3 p. m.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(While Louella O. Parsons is on vacation her column will be written by Dorothy Manners.)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17.—(INS)—Just around Christmas time Montgomery Clift and the Academy Award winning father-son team of Walter and John Huston, will start work at Columbia.

In "Remembrances of a C. P. Eagle" production for Horizon Productions but the picture will be made on the Columbia lot and released by them.

Now, with all these fine announcements for Clift, isn't it about time he got around to actually making a picture? Some of the bloom is wearing off the original excitement over the boy because we haven't seen him in so long.

He's good—but he's going to have to hold his own with Walter Huston in the same line-up.

After having nervous jitters over whether she would be held to four personal appearance contracts, just signed, Celeste Holm has been able to postpone the dates—which means she's free to do the Ronald Colman picture.

Has anyone pointed out that when Celeste and Colman step before the cameras in "Champagne for Caesar," two Oscar winners of last year will be in the same picture?

Harry Popkin is producing Ronnie's comeback comedy—the first picture he has made since grabbing the Oscar for "A Double Life."

The most charming debutante at Del Mar is Marti Schenck, 20-year-old daughter of the Nicholas Schencks and niece of Joseph Schenck.

None of the bored, so-tired-of-it-all manner about this charming girl who is very interested in the theater and in all the celebrities she is meeting at the vacation spot.

Ginger Rogers gave a party in her honor and Marti's eyes were that big meeting the Ray Millands, Gregory Peck and other stars. Friday, her 21st birthday, she comes into a trust fund of $450,000—and her Uncle Joe suspects she's going to sink it all backing Broadway shows!

Ira Gershwin is writing special lyrics for some of George Gershwin's music that has never been heard before "American in Paris," the MGM musical for Gene Kelly.

That particular American will be in Paris, too, for it's now definite that the film will be made in France right after the first of the year. Alan J. Lerner, young writer who shot to the top with "Brigadoon," is doing the script.

Hollywood in shorts: Charles Boyer was right about his good friend, Maurice Chevalier, calling off his engagement to Jacqueline Noel. Maurice put his 22-year-old love on the plane back to Paris with a fond, but final, kiss.

Greta Garbo, complete with old straw hat, is taking the cure at Aix-Les-Bains. Hotel employees report she eats the same thing every day—cold cuts, salad and beer.

Errol Flynn is testing his yacht with trial runs before taking off on an extended cruise. Errol's gone mad about life on the Riviera—even wants to stay on and make a picture there.

"The Champions," sensational dance team at the Mocambo, have had three screen offers—and you'll see why when you get a load of them in Charlie Morrison's nitery.

Louella Parsons and Mrs. Nick Schenck went back stage to visit Jane Cowl after "Art and Mrs. Bottle" at the La Jolla Playhouse. By the time you read this "Arms and the Men" with honeymooning Joanne Dru will be playing.

William Wellman's new directorial ticket with MGM calls for one picture a year for the next three years. He starts with "The Vermin" with Dean Stockwell.

Dana Andrews, his wife and four kids, off to a Catalina vacation after he wound up "My Foolish Heart."

Jean Holloway, writer of three top radio serials now on the air, has a screen offer for her newest, "The First Hundred Years," which is going big.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

MIRROR of your MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Does frustration create problem children?

Answer: Yes, says Dr. Victor E. Stork, Los Angeles pediatrician. To develop normally, a child needs four things: a sense of security; a chance to see the world and himself realistically; opportunities to do things which he feels are real achievements; and a degree of independence "appropriate to his age." The child specialist should help parents recognize these needs and make sure they are not frustrated. Discipline is not a need in itself, but helps the child form a realistic picture of a world in which some actions are not tolerated.

Answer: To judge by appearance, both yes and no. On one side there are the huge sums raised for philanthropic causes as well as the kindness usually shown by neighbors to people in trouble; on the other, the callous indifference with which most of us regard catastrophes like famines in a foreign country. Actually, we are "charitable" either from a sense of guilt (because we feel somehow responsible for others' misfortunes) or because we "identify ourselves" with them and act as we should want them to act toward us if we were in the same situation.

Does an aching back need support?

Answer: That depends on what the ache is caused by, says a specialist in psychosomatic medicine. In the case of sufferers from "psychogenic (mentally caused) rheumatism." "Instead of trying to bolster them up with a crutch, we are out to develop their emotional security so that they won't have to lean on supports, or braces, or for that matter, on their physician." Even rest may do more harm than carrying on a normal life and ignoring their symptoms. But have a physician make sure that your aching back is psychogenic before taking this advice.

Of loved ones gone to rest.
They will never be forgotten,
By the ones who love them best.
We often look at their picture,
Smiling they seem to say,
Don't grieve, we are only sleeping,
We will see you all someday.

A bitter grief, a shock severe,
To part with those we loved so dear.
In our hearts they're living yet,
We loved them too dearly to ever forget.
God alone knows how we miss them,
Never shall their memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wander,
To the spot where they are laid.

Sadly missed by his parents,
Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Bridges,
Brothers, Allen, Raymond,
Lawrence, Nevin, and Ralph and sister, Doris.

In loving memory of our husband and father, Edgar V. Pratt, who passed away August 2, 1949.

One year has quickly passed away,
Since Dad left our home.
We miss his mother up above,
And left us all alone.

We think of him so often,
And miss him every day.
The little things he used to do,
To brighten up our way.

But as the days go passing by,
Forgotten by some he may be,
Always dear and close to my heart
Is my boy of memories.

Sadly missed by his Wife and children,
Mr. and Mrs. Pratt.

We take this means of expressing our sincere thanks and appreciation to all those who were so kind to us during our recent bereavement, the death of our son and brother, Melvin Leroy Rouch, who died Saturday, August 13. We also wish to thank those who sent floral tributes and donated cars for funeral.

Market Hits Mid-Summer Peak On Late Buying Wave

NEW YORK, Aug. 17 (AP)—A late buying wave today pushed the stock market to a new peak for the mid-summer rally.

Prices on average stand at the highest point since early February and are only slightly below the year's top reached in January.

WILLIAM A. HUSTER, Attorney at Law, Cumberland, Maryland, Ruth Leona Wright vs. John Victor Wright, No. 21,337 Equity. In the Circuit Court for Allegany County, Md.

ORDER OF PUBLICATION
The Bill of Complaint states: That on the 21st day of April, 1945, she was married to John Victor Wright with whom she resided until December 29th, 1947, when she was compelled to leave him because of his harshness, brutality and cruelty to her, and that his conduct became so intolerable that she was obliged to leave him. That the desertion and abandonment has continued for more than eighteen months before bringing of this suit. That no children were born of said marriage.

Beall And Finan Welcome Purple Heart Delegates

17th Annual Conclave Off To Good Start

Welcoming delegates of the 17th annual national convention of the Military Order of Purple Heart to Western Maryland, Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the 6th Maryland District, issued a stern warning to the 500 assembled veterans and Auxiliary members to safeguard the legislative gains they have made in behalf of disabled veterans, their widows and orphans, and to perpetuate the identity of the Veterans Administration and keep veterans' claims separate from all other forms of social legislation.

Congressman Beall, a veteran of World War I, said he has never subscribed to the popular idea that veterans represent a group of citizens always going around with their hands out. "You comrades of the Purple Heart are eligible to belong to any veterans organization in the country," he said. "By your service, and by your sacrifice and the shedding of your blood for the principles of this great nation, you stand apart and above all other citizens and groups of citizens."

Cites Personal Contribution

"I have always believed that disabled veterans are entitled to more consideration than other groups, because of the great personal sacrifice they have made and many continue to make all of their lives for their country," he continued.

"Each personal sacrifice was made, not alone by choice of the individual, no matter how courageously or how willingly free blood was shed, but this personal sacrifice immediately became and still remains the responsibility of a grateful nation. Every citizen is obligated. Every citizen is indebted. Every citizen and the nation as a whole is responsible for the welfare of these men and their families, he avowed.

Congressman Beall said the 81st Congress has done little for the veterans in the way of new legislation but reminded his listeners that the House has passed a bill increasing benefits to men with disability and allowances for dependents.

"I voted for this Bill," he declared, "but I am still of the opinion it did not go far enough. The increase is too little, considering the greatly increased cost of living. I hope the Senate will increase the allowance, and the House can then concur with the increase."

Issues Timely Council

Beall said, "Your great organization, and all veteran groups must be on their guard against any move to combine or consolidate veterans legislation with Social Security or other forms of welfare legislation. I believe you, as veterans, must always retain your own identity if you are to get what is coming to you."

The Congressman concluded his talk by saying, "Don't be alarmed by those who express the view that veterans are always asking for something. I'll leave this thought with you. If you don't plead your own case, if your veterans organizations do not continue to plead your case, no one else is going to do it for you."

Thomas B. Finan, city solicitor, representing Mayor Thomas S. Post who was in Baltimore, extended the official greeting and welcome of Cumberland and all its citizens.

He reminded the delegates and Auxiliary members that George Washington, who initiated the Purple Heart, was identified with Cumberland as a surveyor in his youth.

"His character was moulded here as a young man amid our forests, mountains, valleys and streams. It was here he assumed his first important command of men as a major in the Virginia militia," Finan said.

Cumberland Is Sanctuary

"It is fitting therefore that the first national convention ever held in Cumberland is the Purple Heart convention, because Cumberland stands as a sanctuary to you who wear the Purple Heart, because of its close relations with George Washington and his great part in the early development of this city and this nation."

George Leib, general chairman read greetings from President Harry S. Truman, General Dwight Eisenhower.

Following the joint meeting, the president held her tea for delegates.

From all over the United States, the national president has gathered a collection of jewelry which testifies to the place she has in the affection of her units.

Because her nickname is "Bee," many groups have presented her with tiny jeweled bees which she displays proudly in a portable case.

Learning that their president liked earrings, Auxiliary members all over the country have contributed to a collection which has reached 250 pairs. Her husband, William E. Donovan, has built special racks for them in their Baltimore home.

In her year as president, Mrs. Donovan has spent exactly one month at home—from December 14 to January 14. But, she loves her work because she likes "belonging to an organization where ladies can spare time to help the wounded."

The entire Donovan family are enthusiastic Purple Heart members. Both Mrs. Donovan and their 21-year-old daughter, Delores, owe their membership to a wound suffered by Mr. Donovan in World War I.

Donovan, a member of the Motor Power Department of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, is very proud of

Frostburg Veteran Waits 30 Years For Purple Heart

After waiting 30 years, Elmer S. Wilderman, 54, a Celanese worker from Frostburg and veteran of World War I, was decorated with the Purple Heart and formally inducted into the Military Order of the Purple Heart yesterday by the national commander, Clifford A. Parmenter.

Wilderman served with Company C, 60th Infantry, 5th Regiment, as an infantryman and was wounded during an attack in the battle of the Argonne Forest on November 6, 1918, five days before the Armistice was signed. He received a machinegun bullet wound in his shoulder.

He said yesterday he had never applied for a Purple Heart but when he heard of the convention, inquired about it. He was presented to the delegates by George Leib and took the Order's obligation before Commander Parmenter.

Adequate Gas Supply Assured

Cumberland will have an adequate natural gas supply this coming winter with possibly the exception of one small area in the city, J. F. Baechtel, district engineer of the C and A Gas Company, told members of the Engineers Club at All Ghan Country Club last night.

In his talk, Baechtel outlined progress made since the war to augment facilities and supply, and explained plans for future service improvement.

He said the company is using a new chemical in their lines, known as "captan," which is easily detected by its odor and has reduced the danger of leaking pipes and mains going undiscovered.

James Cook, a senior at Purdue University studying mechanical engineering, gave a five-minute talk on model airplanes, jet engines, and advancement in aviation.

Continued rains last night placed a road block over Bedford Road at the city limits near Naves Crossroads, according to city police, who said repair work there had caused a detour over soft ground which became water soaked.

Police said traffic was being rerouted over Baltimore Pike to the crossroads where they can again travel on the Bedford Road.

Ohio Man, Wife Are Injured On Vacation Trip

Couple Involved In Head On Crash

A man and his wife returning to Beaver Dam, Ohio, from their vacation, were admitted to Miners Hospital, Frostburg, at 1:30 p. m. yesterday after their car skidded on a wet road three and a half miles east of Grantsville and struck a State Road Commission truck.

At the hospital attaches listed the couple as Mr. and Mrs. John Ross and said both suffered fractured legs and numerous cuts and bruises. They were admitted.

Joseph Herman, Oakland, a passenger in the state road truck was also treated from minor injuries and discharged. Harry Bittinger, Oakland, was listed as driver of the truck.

Trooper Blair Buckle, who investigated, said witnesses at the scene of the accident on the west side of Meadow Mountain explained that the Ross car was not traveling fast but it skidded on the rain soaked highway and collided head on with the truck.

Passing motorists removed the couple from the wrecked car and placed them in an ambulance which carried them to the hospital. Police said the accident occurred shortly after a very hard rain.

Damage to both vehicles was described as "extensive" and Trooper Buckle said the engine in the Ross car was pushed up through the floor boards of the automobile. The front end of the state truck was damaged.

Police estimated damage at $400 to each vehicle. No charges were preferred pending further investigation of the mishap. Trooper Buckle said Ross and his wife were in too much pain to be questioned yesterday.

Paper Workers Extend Contract With Westvaco

Talks May Resume When Union Wishes

ROANOKE, Va., Aug. 17 (P)—The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company, and United Paper Workers (CIO) ended a 10-day conference here today by extending the present union contract "until such future date as the union may select."

The union presented demands on August 8 amounting to a wage increase of 30 cents per hour.

The demands included a 15 cents increase in hourly pay, life insurance, sickness and accident benefits, hospitalization, provision for medical and surgical expense, shift differentials, and additional paid holidays and vacations. The minimum hourly rate at the mills involved is currently $1.15.

Chief reason for extending the present contract, both labor and management spokesmen said, "is the uncertainty surrounding the general economic outlook, especially uncertainty as to the outcome of current issues in the steel, motor, and other important industries."

The current contract was due to expire August 20. Conclusions reached today are subject to approval of union members.

The union represented approximately 4,000 employees at the company's mills at Covington, Va.; Luke, Md., and Williamsburg, Pa. Three other mills in Charleston, S. C., Mechanicsville, N. Y., and Tyrope, Pa., are not affected by the negotiations.

In addition to money demands, company and union discussed seniority conditions within the three mills. While tentative agreements were reached on a few minor points, no definite commitments were made by either side. Major issues developed by these discussions remain unsettled.

A company spokesman said "it will be up to the union to decide when or if the time is ripe for another meeting."

Hitchcock To Set Rules On Smoke Ordinance

Advisory Board Visits Laboratory

The Smoke Control Advisory Board yesterday afternoon requested George M. Hitchcock, city smoke abatement engineer, to draw up a set of rules governing smoke violations in the city.

Hitchcock, empowered by the existing ordinance to set up the regulations, said they would furnish a "technical interpretation" of the smoke ordinance and said he expected to have them ready for the next meeting of the board September 14.

The regulations would govern technical details, such as dimensions of boilers, furnaces, flues and stacks, and would give industries a specific guide to help them avoid violating the ordinance, Hitchcock said.

Hitchcock told the board he has made inquiries of other cities concerning annual inspections of stationary industrial boilers, which is being considered by the board.

Only three cities in the United States, he said, have such inspections. They are Chicago, Columbus, O., and Cincinnati, O. He added that the board hopes Cumberland will be the fourth.

Hitchcock will prepare a proposed ordinance covering the inspections for review by the board, which will then submit it to the Mayor and Council for passage.

An investigational questionnaire for use by railroads also will be prepared, Hitchcock declared.

When a complaint is lodged, the engineer of firemen responsible for the alleged violation will be required to answer questions on the form.

After yesterday's meeting the board made its first official visit to the smoke abatement laboratory at Lake Gordon, where Hitchcock demonstrated methods used in analyzing dust fall samples.

Charles Z. Heskett, chairman of the board, presided at the meeting, the first gathering of the full board.
